

June 8, 2020

Dear College of Law Community:

By now, you should have received the message concerning actions the University will take and policies we will implement to safeguard the health and well-being of our campus community this fall.

Generally, all of these actions and policies will apply to the College of Law and be implemented at, for and by the College, with the exception of weekend classes. As I mentioned in my message concerning our accelerated academic schedule, we will not hold classes on the weekends (Saturdays or Sundays), although we will hold classes on Labor Day.

Our experiential programs, including our clinics, will adapt to the new policies for the health and well-being of all participants, including our students, faculty, and clients. Details of these adjustments will follow.

I wish you and your families a safe and healthy summer.

Best regards,

Craig M. Boise

Dean and Professor | College of Law