Dear Students,

This week is not an ordinary week. I say that, not so much because working from home and social distancing is starting to feel routine ... I say it because this week you'll be tackling your final exams.

Congratulations on the end of the semester and good luck on your exams! I'll be thinking of all of you—knowing that, while COVID-19 has commanded a change or two in our approach, it won't change your drive or break your stride.

Be well this week. Stay strong. Stay safe. You've got this!

Best wishes,
